Background

Surf Life Saving Australia (SLSA) has had a very successful partnership with Japan Life Saving Association (JLA) since 2007. In 2014, JLA had invited Australian Lifesavers to Japan as part of the Australia-Japan Exchange Program.

This program is aimed to enhance JLA's efforts in water safety education by utilising Australian Lifesavers experience through an exchange program. JLA values the importance of Australian Lifesavers as key advocates in promoting water safety, improving lifesaving practices, and raising awareness through community engagement.

Purpose of the Exchange

- To enable JLA Lifesavers to learn how SLSA Lifesavers deliver water safety education to local students.
- To foster and strengthen relationships and collaboration between lifesavers from both countries.

In addition to participating in the Iwai Seaside Program, some SLSA Lifesavers take the opportunity to extend their stay to take part in surf patrol activities with local Surf Life Saving Clubs, further contributing to knowledge sharing and strengthening international cooperation.
